

As we move into the next millennium technology is making broad changes in the way we all do business. We have developed a series of business models that take full advantage of the convergence of Information Technologies and shaped new ways of doing business. This is the core element of our management philosophy and is the guiding principle for our delivery of services. We have automated much of the business elements that allow us to not only manage more efficiently, but add value to our management services by providing our clientele with access to a broad array of technology resources. This will serve our client base across a broad spectrum of business and industry models.

A Diamond in the Rough

This property is ready to be transformed. We have looked at the potential and had it examined by professionals. Although there are many cosmetic changes that can be made to improve on the look and feel, the basic foundation is solid and the location is prime as the center piece of the technology management services that we have developed. We can take this seeming piece of coal and transform it, into a "Show Place Piece". This property will allow us to explore and demonstrate what the full integration of technology into a premium work place as well as a high tech community gathering place. The property will serve as a model for a business & community technology center that our community can build upon to create a central point of contact with the information technology of the future. Even as we develop this project the opportunities for growth continue. This is an exciting beginning to what we see as a bright future.

Technology Resources for the New Millennium

As we move into the new millennium we must begin to change the way we do things to fit the resources available to us and take full advantage of them at every turn. We have created a company that will bring technology resources that can now be integrated into the very fiber of every aspect of our life as we go forward.

Integrate What?

We have looked at a variety of industries and found that the most success has been realized by those businesses that harness the power of technology and use it in new and innovative ways. This includes processing paperwork through the entire spectrum of a business model as well as the interaction with other businesses, vendors, contractors, advertisers and clients. Additionally, services that have been here to fore separated by the various entities will be streamlined into a set of services that will be customizable and tailored to meet the needs of everyone. The same technology can support more than just business needs. Individuals, community based organizations and local governments can take advantage of our "Shared Resources" concept.

More than email

We are also working to extend our working model into the creation of extended points of contact that will allow our clientele to have access to information technology as a byproduct of the basic infrastructure of the center. This is a key element to the nature of our relationship with our clientele. In addition to helping them find the right type of technology mix to meet their needs we will help them enhance their basic operation, to maximize the business operations and improve the bottom line cost while reducing the Total Cost of Ownership. This concept will help shape and build long lasting relationships with our clients and them with their clients.

Understanding Technology Needs

What a particular client needs by way of technology is a part of the new business model that our management team will bring to the table. We work to stay connected to the world of technology and apply new information resources to whatever business our client is involved. This will help us to provide the ongoing value added services that will set us apart from other technology groups. We are offering this opportunity as we begin our journey to change the way business is managed. This will also become a high growth area and we see great dividends as we expand this concept and implement it on a wide scale. We will also be able to enhance existing technology operations that wish to take advantage of the enhancements that we can add to their businesses. The Technology Resource Center will serve as our initial point of contact for small business, local government and individuals in our community.
